From the Governor's Quill

What a pleasure to be elected as your new state governor! I am looking forward to seeing where we go in the next couple of years. There are a few things that I'd like to see accomplished during my term over and above the excellent work our state society does now.

- Conversion of Juniors to members (more in this issue about that).
- Creation of a series of 400th anniversary commemorative medals for additional scholarship fundraising.
- Recognition / wreath laying at the Massasoit statue in Kansas City.
- Participation in St. Louis' Thanksgiving Day parade.
- Updating our society's history and by-laws.

Gov. Sumner Hunnewell

If you are interested in helping in any of these areas, please let me know (my contact information is on the back of the newsletter).

I want to thank our acting and outgoing Recording / Corresponding Secretary, Earlene Lawrence. She has been a blessing to us all. Kathy Muckala will be taking on the position of Corresponding Secretary. We are in need for a Recording Secretary, however. Contact me, if you can help. Thanks go to past Governor, Keith Morris, who is helping me with my new responsibilities.

Our Board of Assistants (especially my greatest cheerleader, Marietta Boenker) are here to assist you and keep the wheels on this bus. I'm looking forward to working with them. And thanks to my wife, who made me a spiffy Pilgrim outfit.

Keep your eyes open as I have plans to attend your colony luncheons. I'll bring along a pie to give away.

—Sumner G. Hunnewell

Mayflower Compact Luncheon Minutes

Greenbriar Country Club, Kirkwood, 17 November

The Fall Compact Luncheon of the Missouri Mayflower Society was held on Saturday, November 17, 2018, at Greenbriar Hills Country Club, Kirkwood, Missouri. Governor Keith Morris called the meeting to order and welcomed members and guests. The Pledge of Allegiance was led by Governor

Larrah and Elaine Bonifield

Morris and the invocation was presented by Elder Evermon. Governor Morris announced that the Wreaths Across America program at Jefferson Barracks National Cemetery will be held on December 15 at 11:00 a.m. Wreaths Across America is a fundraising program that not only provides wreaths for graves at our National Cemeteries but also a portion comes back to help fund the Society's scholarship program. Prints of Cedric Hustace's Pilgrim artwork are still available for donations to the scholarship fund ($100-$250 = 8 ½" x 11" / $250 and above = 11" x 14"). Governor Morris thanked Joan Gooding for her work in arranging the meeting venue. He also expressed his appreciation to the outgoing Board for their work during his eight year tenure as Governor. He was presented with a plaque and gavel recognizing his tenure and a Past Governor's medal.

Steve Brodbeck, Amy Anderson, Mark Anderson

Jim and Paul Shoemaker

After lunch, the Secretary, Earlene Lawrence, reported on the Fall Business Meeting held at CJ Muggs in Webster Groves on September 8, 2018. End of the year reports were presented by the officers and committee chairs. A slate of officers for the 2018-2020 term was presented by the Board. The slate was elected by unanimous vote. A motion was made by Jim Shoemaker and seconded by Fred Evermon to approve the minutes of the September 8, 2018, business meeting. Motion passed by unanimous vote.

Joan Gooding, Treasurer, reported $13,473.95 in the checking account, $18,853.16 in savings and $2417.81 in the scholarship account. A motion was made by Fred Evermon and seconded by Sumner Hunnewell to accept the Treasurer's report and to file it for audit.

Governor Morris read the Mayflower Compact. Information on the first Thanksgiving and the story of the Five Kernels of Corn was provided at each table. Members were invited to stand when their ancestor's name was called from the roster of those who sailed aboard the Mayflower in 1620.

A Great Gift

We have over 311 active members in our Missouri Society and many are sponsors of our 132 Junior Members. What if every parent of our Junior Members would join the GSMD – General Society of Mayflower Descendants? As an active member, your original application would provide a simple application process for your offspring and grandchildren to join the adult society. For your children, it would take the completion of only ONE generation to complete an application, and, for grandchildren only two generations (subject to current requirements for approval of previous generations). Think about gifting adult membership to your descendants. They could be full-fledged Members in time for our 2020 Celebration (400th Anniversary). This gift to them would document your family history and maintain continued membership into our General Society.

Whether they live in Missouri or another state, your ancestral legacy would be preserved for generations to come. Download an application from our website (momayflower.org) or contact our State Historian, Damon Hayward (816) 353-7591. Mail to 4331 Moats Drive, Kansas City, MO, 64133.

Spending My Kids' Inheritance

The hue and cry of so many groups (fraternal groups, military organizations, hereditary societies, etc., etc.) is "We are getting old and the younger generations aren't joining!" Due to lack of interest, lethargy, or being strapped for cash, our kids aren't joining the groups that are important to us. So, I've decided to do something about it! I'm spending my kids' inheritance.

Taking Marietta's advice, I'm working through the process with our Historian, Damon Hayward, to make them members. Do I expect them to be excited about it right away? No, not really, but I am hopeful that the news of the 400th anniversary will pique their interest. I am hopeful that when they receive their Society newsletters and magazines they will feel a little more pride in their ancestors' accomplishments.

And, I am not leaving it at that. I plan on paying for their yearly dues until they take that responsibility on themselves. If it's something I care about, I don't see why I shouldn't spend my money in that direction. (Otherwise I know they'll spend it on video games, a new cell phone, or some crazy Rock and Roll band like The Beatles.)

So, I will ask you to join me and start spending your kid's (or kids') inheritance! With age comes wisdom. The pendulum swings; the generation or "non joiners" will find that organizations like ours offers them something unique—of something they will be pleased to be a part.

— Sumner G. Hunnewell

The Missouri Mayflower Society Scholarship Contest is open to any high school senior who is a resident of the State of Missouri and a Citizen of the United States, and who is planning to attend an institution of higher learning in the fall of 2019. Mayflower descent is not a requirement but may be considered along with other qualifications.

Last year we had 15 essays. Would you consider joining the reviewers for these short essays? Please contact Sandra Walker to help a young student on his or her way!

Colony News

Leila Cohoon

The Heart of America Colony of the Descendants of the Mayflower Society met on November 3, 2018, for a luncheon at Places Restaurant in Lee's Summit. A lovely luncheon was enjoyed by all of the 38 persons in attendance. A guest speaker, Leila Cohoon of Leila's Hair Museum shared her love of history, collecting and creating wonderful works of art from hair of loved ones. Leila exhibited several significant pieces from our nation's past with the group and encouraged people to come by the only hair museum in the world located in Independence. Sharing her love of tradition and history, she told stories and explained how the artwork was created. A brief business meeting followed, conducted by Colony Governor Terri Hardy.

The members of Greater Ozarks Colony held their fall luncheon at the Northern Golden Corral Buffet and Grill, Springfield, on October 27, 2018. Prospective member, Gail Mewes, presented a program on her ancestor grandmother who was charged and jailed as a witch during the Salem witch trials. The colony's next meeting will be held on March 23 (see back page).

New Plymouth Colony and Its Dealings in Maine

Presented at the Compact Luncheon by Sumner G. Hunnewell

Every good story needs a map. You have a copy of an ancient one. Take that out as we walk through it. (Names in bold are found on the map.)

To the lower left you will see Cape Elizabeth, where you will find the Portland Head Light. This part of Maine is about 45 miles from the border of New Hampshire, where the Piscataqua River separates the two states.

In the center of the map is the Kennebec River, where much of our discussion will be. Take the distance between Cape Elizabeth and Pemaquid Point on the map. It is about that same distance to another river to the East, the Penobscot River, which we will also discuss.

Everyone is well versed in the settlement of Jamestown in 1607. Fewer people know of the Popham Colony along the coast of Maine, settled in 1607 as well—close to Small Point as found on your map. It was abandoned the following year, but not without some success. During that time, they built an extensive fort, storehouse, crude housing, and the first English colonists' ship, The Virginia.

Later, others of the fishing trade came over and set up seasonal fishing enterprises along the coast.

This explains why in 1622, the beleaguered New Plymouth Colony received letters and seven more colonists from their backers in England through fisherman stationed at Damariscove Island, which is identified by Damariscotta on your map. A captain from the Virginia colony was fishing there and warned New Plymouth about the recent massacre in Jamestown. He also offered assistance to the Pilgrims and piloted their ships to Damariscove, where they generously received enough supplies from some of the 30 ships to get them supplied through harvest. The Pilgrim colony was not in a bubble. They would learn where Englishmen worked or settled and where they could trade with the natives. News can travel quickly with a fast ship. Around the time of these events (1623), other settlements were made at Piscataqua and Monhegan. They even helped their new sister colony of Wessagussett with corn to take to Monhegan to trade.

At that time, New Plymouth was sent a pinnace, unruly sailors, and salt for use in the fishing trade with hopes that this would offset their debt to their backers. Having been caught in a storm, and nearly lost, it was refitted and sent to Damariscove, where it was lost in a terrible storm – “stove all to hell” as we say in Maine...a hole in its bulk “that a horse and cart might have been driven through.” The captain and a crew member were lost but the men of Maine convinced the colony that it could be fixed -- for a price. At low tide they fastened casks to her and at high tide, floated her to a safe place, hauled her ashore and repaired her. As Bradford said, “she proved an expensive vessel to the poor plantation” and she was sent back to England.

By 1625, things were looking up for the colony, as they had a surplus of corn, which Winslow and his crew traded at the Kennebec River for beaver and other pelts. They realized £700 in profit!

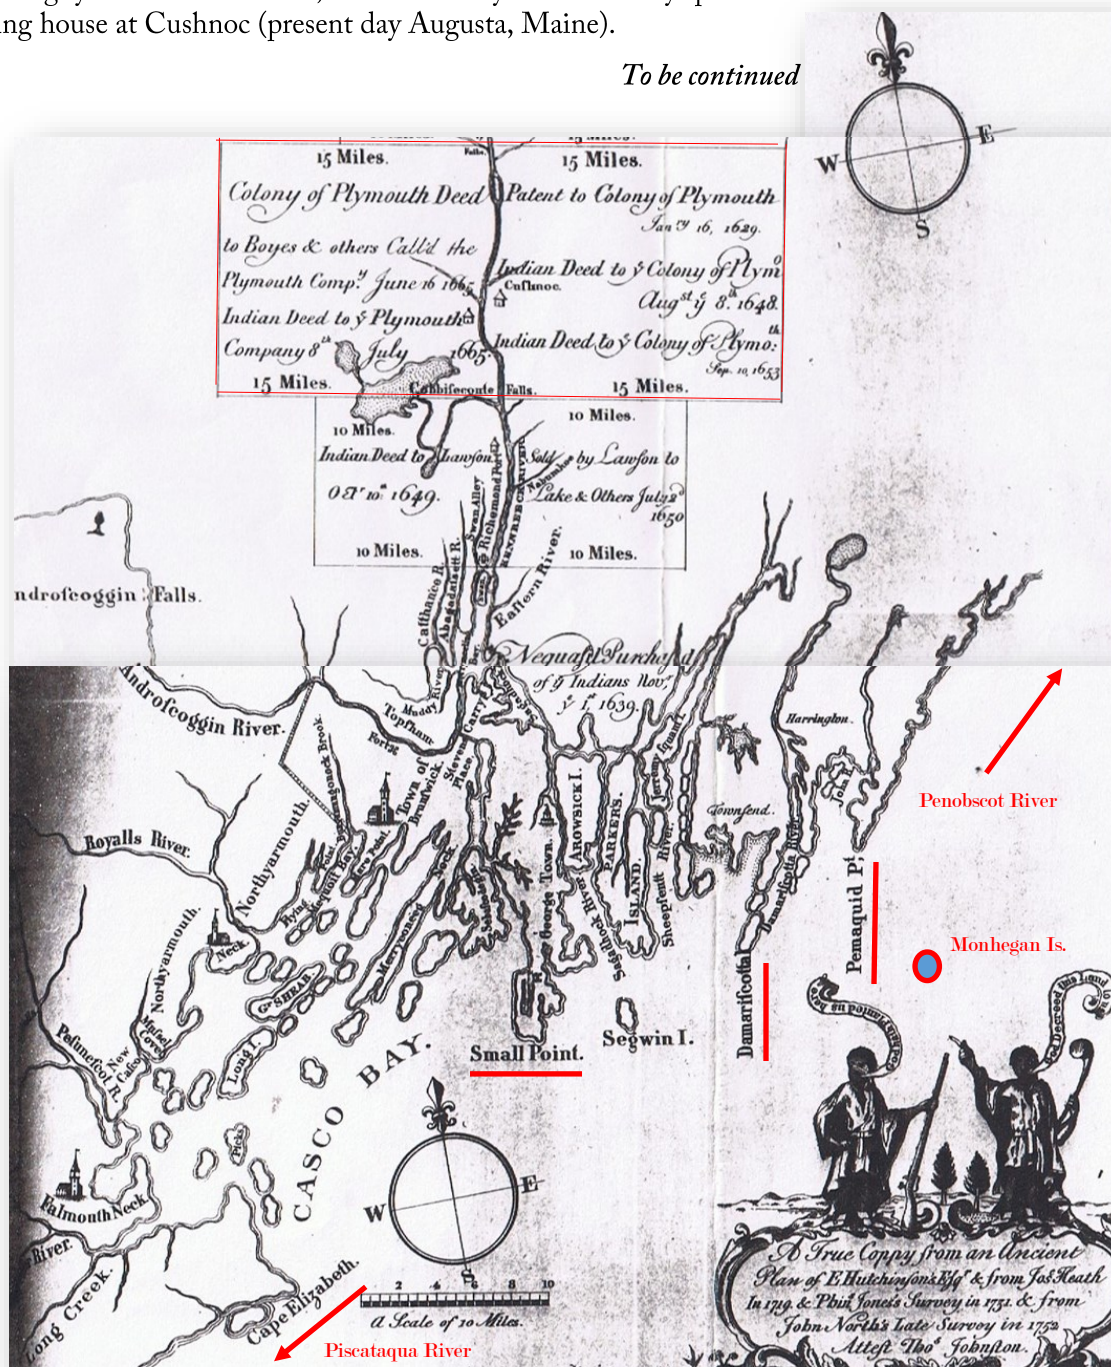

The following year, more travel to Maine yielded more profits. Picking up Mr. Thomson from Piscataqua they headed up to Monhegan looking for goods being dissolved by Plymouth merchants. They colluded to pay the same amount for items and brought home £400 of goods. Also, a French ship had been wrecked and the cargo retrieved by the fishermen of Damariscove, which they traded for at that time. All was going well for the colony until those outside started trading with the natives in corn as well, which drove down the price considerably.

In 1627, looking for additional ways to ensure trading rights with the natives of Maine along the Kennebec, the ever resourceful Allerton went to England to procure a patent, or land grant, for territory along the Kennebec River. He returned with one, which was not satisfactory, but improved upon the following year. Emboldened, the New Plymouth colony placed a trading house at Cushnoc (present day Augusta, Maine).
